APPENDIX A.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY.

Great Irish Horse Show, to be held at Ball's Bridge, Dublin, 23rd, 24th, 25th, and 26th August 1887.

Service Premiums, to the amount of 3,300 L, are offered for Thorough-bred Stallions, suitable for getting Hunters and other Half-bred Horses.

Appendix to the Prize List.—Entries for the Service Premiums close Saturday, 30 July 1887.

Service Premiums for Thorough-bred Stallions, suitable for getting Hunters and other Half-bred Horses.

Her Majesty's Government having promised to submit a Vote to the House of Commons for a sum of money, out of which 5,000 L will be set apart to be administered by the Royal Dublin Society for the purpose of encouraging improvement in the breed of horses and cattle in Ireland, the Royal Dublin Society is accordingly enabled to offer the sum of 3,300 L, in 16 equal premiums of 200 L each, for thorough-bred stallions (three years old and upwards) suitable for getting hunters and other half-bred horses, subject to the conditions that each stallion selected for a premium shall serve, if required, not less than 50 half-bred mares, the lord's sole property of farmers, at a fee not exceeding 1 L for each mare, and shall not serve more than 60 mares during the season of 1888, and shall travel in the district to be assigned by the Royal Dublin Society. In the event of the full number of 50 nominations not being made for services at the fee of 1 L, the Society reserves the right to make such further regulations as may be deemed desirable.

The service premiums will be divided as equitably as possible between the four Provinces.

Each exhibitor may state, in the certificate of entry, the province in which he prefers that his horse should serve.

All the stallions will compete together. The 16 selected stallions will then be distributed, as far as practicable, according to the wishes of exhibitors, as set forth in the certificate of entry. Should any difficulty arise, it will be decided by the Society.

The award of service premiums by the judges will be subject to confirmation by the Council of the Royal Dublin Society, and before any award is submitted for such confirmation, it will be necessary for the owner of the stallion to whom a service premium has been awarded to give to the Royal Dublin Society his bond, or such other form of security as the Council shall require; conditional amongst other things that, in the event of his failing to carry out and fulfil the conditions attached to the award, he will forfeit and pay to the Royal Dublin Society, as liquidated damages, such sum as the Council of the Society may determine and require, not exceeding 100 L.

Local committees will be appointed, to whom all questions connected with the respective stallions during the season of service may be referred; and they will take such steps as they may consider necessary to secure that none but suitable mares (having due regard to size, age, and soundness) receive nominations. When necessary, the Society will be prepared to provide the local committees with veterinary assistance.

All nominations will be made by the local committees, subject to the approval of the Society, and the owners of mares must apply to the local committees for service tickets.

All service fees must be paid through the local committees.

No person will be entitled to a nomination who is not a farmer, the aggregate tenement valuation of whose holdings does not exceed 200 L per annum.

Each service premium will be withheld until after 1st July 1888, and until the local committee certifies that the conditions under which the premium was awarded have been duly complied with.

In case of illness or inability of the stallion to finish his service season, the owners of mares must abide by the decision of the Society as to the amount of fees to be paid.

Entries for the service premiums close Saturday, 30th July 1887.

The conditions under which the service premiums are offered are subject to alteration.

Entry Fee, 3 L. Deposit Fee, in addition, 2 L. for each animal, which latter sum will be refunded, provided the horse is in its stall at 9 o'clock on each morning of the show.

APPENDIX B.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY.

Government Premiums for Bulls.—Regulations.

1. All bulls must be entered, or certified as eligible to be entered, in the herd-book of their breed, where such herd-book exists, and has been in existence for not less than seven years.

2. Bulls must not exceed three years old.

3. No owner of a cow will be entitled to a nomination for service unless he is a bona fide farmer, the aggregate tenement valuation of whose holdings does not exceed 100 £. per annum. The preference will be given to the smaller farmers.

4. Each service premium will be withheld until 1st August 1888, and until the committee of agriculture of the Royal Dublin Society is satisfied that the required number of cows have been served, and the other condition complied with, or that there is a sufficient reason for these conditions not having been fulfilled.

5. On the completion of the services of the required number of cows, the certificates, which will be supplied to the owner of the bull, are to be returned to the registrar, Royal Dublin Society, accompanied by a statutory declaration, signed before a magistrate, certifying that the cows have been served.

By Order of the Council of the Royal Dublin Society, (signed) R. J. Moss, Registrar.
